

Supporting the workforce of Indiana's CHWs as part of the health care delivery system.

Dear Partner,

INCHWA (Indiana Community Health Workers Association) is proud to announce that Governor Eric Holcomb has declared July 28th to be Community Health Worker (CHW) Appreciation Day. As an organization serving CHWs, we will highlight their invaluable contributions to Indiana throughout July. We are touring the state to help our partners celebrate and appreciate local CHWs and to listen to CHWs and employers of CHWs concerning the challenges they face when serving Hoosiers. INCHWA will recognize exceptional CHWs nominated by their peers with awards during our tour.

We will end our festivities in Greenwood, Indiana on July 28th from 11AM- 2PM. We will conclude our month-long appreciation by paying tribute to the CHWs in our own backyard. This remarkable event will feature music, food, self-care, and awards to applaud our dedicated CHWs.

CHWs tirelessly provide indispensable assistance with health and social determinants of health needs including transportation, resources, health education, and much more. CHWs work endless hours to create positive impact in their communities. INCHWA is proud to demonstrate our gratitude for their unwavering commitment to service.

We are confident you will want to support our celebrations by donating. When you donate at least $500, your organization's logo will prominently display on the back of the CHW Appreciation t-shirt. To ensure your logo is included, please donate by June 29. Starting on July 5, we will distribute the shirts as a symbol of appreciation for the valuable contributions made by CHWs. To donate, please contact Assistant Director Carey Frazier at carey.frazier@inchwa.org.

Thank you for recognizing the importance of this cause and for your generous support.

Best Regards,

INCHWA Leadership
